About Billy Corgan

As the vocalist, lead guitarist and songwriter for The Smashing Pumpkins, Billy Corgan is one of the most compelling figures in rock. He has led the band to great success: the Pumpkins have created one of the most acclaimed bodies of work in musical history having sold more than 30 million albums, and won multiple Grammy Awards in the process. Corgan recently performed a special solo concert on August 30 at Ravinia Festival. His show encompassed material from The Smashing Pumpkins, his songs with Zwan from their one and only 2003 album and his 2005 solo album TheFutureEmbrace plus songs from his unreleased ChicagoKid album (recorded before TheFutureEmbrace), a song cycle about his hometown.

Corgan is now in the studio working on the next two Smashing Pumpkins albums--Monuments To An Elegy and Day For Night--both of which will be released in 2015 via Martha's Music/BMG. The first single is expected to be released by year's end.

The upcoming new albums will follow the band's June 2012 critically acclaimed album Oceania. It entered the Billboard Top 200 Albums Chart at #4; earned the #1 spot on the Independent Albums Chart; and Rolling Stone hailed it as one of the best albums of the year. Following Oceania's release, the band embarked on a world tour playing the album in its entirety along with the band's classics and deep cuts.

Beyond his work with The Smashing Pumpkins, Corgan--as a writer, producer, player and singer--has contributed to recordings by Cheap Trick, Ric Ocasek, New Order, Hole, Sierra Swan and Ex Cops, among others.

In addition, in 2004, Corgan published Blinking with Fists, a book of poetry that debuted on the New York Times Best Seller list. In 2008, Fender unveiled the Billy Corgan Stratocaster guitar, an extraordinarily versatile tone-machine, produced to Corgan's exacting specifications. The Billy Corgan Stratocaster is an especially modern take on the iconic Fender Strat® model, built especially for a high gain sound and designed to create Corgan's signature mid-'90s buzz saw tone. Corgan is also the creative director for Resistance Pro—a Chicago based wrestling company—and is the sole proprietor of Madame ZuZu's, a Chinese inspired teahouse located in Highland Park, Illinois.
